SIX Swiss Exchange is pleased to be able to grant issuers a Knock-out discount for the listing of derivatives on SIX Swiss Exchange with effect from 1 February 2019.

This message serves to provide issuers with detailed information on the Knock-out discount and to notify them of the publication of the revised List of Charges under the Listing Rules.

Knock-out discount

For Warrants with Knock-Out (SSPA code 2200) and Mini-Futures (SSPA code 2210) listed on SIX Swiss Exchange which reach the knock-out level or stop-loss level within 11 trading days and are therefore delisted, the issuer will get to list one more warrant with Knock-Out or one more Mini-Future free of charge for each warrant delisted as a result of having reached the knock-out or stop-loss level.

The 11 trading days will be calculated based on the difference between the first and last trading day. The option of free listing of another Warrant with Knock-Out or Mini-Future lapses at the latest at the end of the month following the last trading day.

The Knock-out discount on listings of Warrants with Knock-Out and Mini-Futures will be granted to all issuers, without registration or additional configuration, with effect from 1 February 2019.

The knock-out discount will be deducted monthly from the invoiced fees for the listing of derivatives. Issuers will see the number of free warrants with Warrants with Knock-Out and Mini-Futures on their invoice. For the sake of clarity, following the monthly billing run issuers will receive a new report with an overview of the listed and free derivatives. This report will be in the private Member Section of SIX Swiss Exchange under the following link:
